BOOK SYNOPSIS

The master of the city of Chicago Briar Forest is four thousand years old. He has no hopes or wishes for a mate. He lives life as he always has, with no hardship in finding female companionship and with owning six of the famous night clubs. He has all the money he could possibly need. At his age, there is only one other vampire that is nearly as strong as him. His life is great as it is until a powerful witch entered his city and one of his clubs without checking in with him first. Once he met her, it is temper and dislike from the beginning or is it confused for something else?

Regardless, he finds himself protecting her from any harm. The powerful star witch named Scarlett Roxine is desperate to find her coven. One by one they started disappearing. Just before her coven leader Julia was taken from her home, she left clues where to look for all of them in the city of Chicago. She will find them even at the point of burning the city down. As though she did not have enough frustration dealing with their disappearance, she finds herself in the presence and under the attention of the master of the city. That is pissing her off. So she shows him just a few of her powers to shut the arrogant vampire up. Now, maybe he will leave her alone. No such luck although she finds herself grateful to him for not letting her stand alone to face the danger before them. In the danger they face together, they bring along old and new friends as well as a family that has many different powers or strengths to help them accomplish their goals. That is to make sure the coven members are all right and that peace is restored in the city of Chicago with Briar having Scarlett as his mate before another alpha takes her to another clan, such as the werewolf the beings Briar refer to as hairy, smelly dogs. There is also the werepanthers and the king of the fae. Everyone wants to mate with the power behind the star witch Scarlett.
